MEDICAL SCHEMES

Beginning on July 1, 1965, the University will implement a medical scheme to give free consultation and medicine to all students of the University. No extra charges will be collected from students to cover the cost of the scheme.

The matter of giving medical services to the students, staff and their dependants has been given serious consideration since the summer of 1964. Plans of various aspects were studied by an ad hoc Committee appointed by the Council, with Mr. W.Q. Lee, University Treasurer, as chairman and many senior staff members of the three Colleges as members. The intention was, as the report stated, “to give full medical coverage to the entire staff and the students”.

However, because of the present physical separation of the three Colleges and the Central Office, an interim scheme has been presented and has received the approval of the University Council.

This interim scheme, slightly different in administration from one college to another but uniform in general principles, offers free annual examinations, consultations and medicines to all students from the college-appointed physician. The scheme does not include hospitalization and specialist care.

For teaching, administrative, clerical and technical staff and their dependents, a scheme based on partial subsidy has been adopted as an interim measure.

The following are the College schemes and the one to be adopted by the University Central Office:

CHUNG CHI COLLEGE

Chung Chi has a clinic and an infirmary built with private funds before the establishment of the University. The building has a consultation room; treatment room; small laboratory and store room; waiting room; women’s ward (3 beds); men’s ward (3 beds); isolation room (1 bed); and doctors’ quarters (2 rooms, kitchen and bath).

On the salaried staff, the college has a physician, a nurse and an attendant. The services offered will continue to include:

(a) Students: Checking of medical certificates of entering students and re-examination if necessary; examination of all resident students (compulsory), twice a year; supervision and follow-up of X-ray programme (Government mobile unit); free consultation service; medicines free if prescribed by College Physician; free inoculations against cholera, typhoid, etc.

(b) Teaching and Administrative Staff and their Dependents: free consultation service; inexpensive medicines free; prescriptions for expensive medicines.

(c) Minor Staff: pre-employment examination of all minor staff; special laboratory tests for Canteen staff; free consultation service; free medicines; free inoculations.

NEW ASIA COLLEGE

The Scheme is based on a contractual agreement with a qualified medical practitioner appointed by the College.
The following services will be offered:

(a) Students: Annual physical examination (including tests of urine and stool) for all students plus consultation and medicine (including routine injections) whenever necessary.

(b) Staff and Dependents: 50% discount on all charges for consultation and medicine (including routine injections) for full-time members of the academic, administrative and technical staffs including their dependents. Thus if the normal charge for a specific consultation plus medicine is $20, the staff member or his/her dependent will pay only $10. Consultation with the College Physician by the staff members and their dependents is, however, on a purely voluntary basis.

(c) Minor Staff: Consultation and medicine (including routine injections) for all minor staff.

United College

The scheme is also based on a contractual agreement with a qualified medical practitioner appointed by the College.

Services provided are as follows:

(a) Students: Free annual physical examination for all students, plus free consultation and medicine (including injections) whenever necessary.

(b) Staff and their Dependents: 50% discount on all charges for consultation and medicine (including injections) for full-time members of the teaching, administrative and technical staffs, including their dependents, e.g., if the normal charge for a certain consultation plus medicine is $20, the staff member or his/her dependent concerned will pay on $10. Consultation with the College physician by the staff members and their dependents is on a voluntary basis.

(c) Minor Staff: Free consultation and medicine for all minor staff members and their dependents (injections included).

The Central Office

The interim health scheme for the staff members and their dependents in the Central Office is based on the scheme of United College, by dividing the staff and dependents of the Central Office under the care of the appointed doctors of Chung Chi College and United College.

Those who are living in Kowloon and the New Territories may receive services from the College Physician of Chung Chi College at his downtown office (Sincere Co. Building, about a block from the Central Office); and those living on Hong Kong Island will receive medical services from the College Physician of United College.

Students and teaching staff to be sent over from the University of California are expected to arrive in early August.

SOCIAL WORK SCHOLARSHIPS

The Chinese University together with the University of Hong Kong have approved regulations for the award of scholarships, each of $5,000 per annum, to students in the social study or social work courses offered by the two Universities. The scholarships were donated by the Hong Kong and Shanghai Banking Corporation.

The Hong Kong and Shanghai Bank announced on 28th February, 1965, that it had decided to commemorate its centenary by presenting an endowment to each of the two Universities to bring in an annual income of about $25,000, so that five scholarships of $5,000 each could be given at each University at any one time.

The object of this gift is to attract some of the best students entering the Universities into a career of social work and thus to stimulate the development of effective social welfare services in Hong Kong.

At the Chinese University of Hong Kong students to be admitted will be those who have satisfactorily completed two years of undergraduate studies in Sociology or Social Work and have been admitted to the third or fourth year of the course leading to a Degree or Diploma in Social Science with Major in Social Work.

MEDICAL SCHEMES

Beginning on July 1, 1965, the University will implement a medical scheme to give free consultation and medicine to all students of the University. No extra charges will be collected from students to cover the cost of the scheme.

The matter of giving medical services to the students, staff and their dependents has been given serious consideration since the summer of 1964. Plans of various aspects were studied by an ad hoc Committee appointed by the Council, with Mr. W.W. Lee, University Treasurer, as chairman and many senior staff members of the three Colleges as members. The intention was, as the report stated, "to give full medical coverage to the entire staff and the students". However, because of the present physical separation of the three Colleges and the Central Office, an interim scheme has been presented and has received the approval of the University Council.

This interim scheme, slightly different in administration from one college to another but uniform in general principles, offers free annual examinations, consultations and medicines to all students from the college-appointed physician. The scheme does not include hospitalization and specialist care.
