HONOUR FOR THE VICE-CHANCELLOR

The Vice-Chancellor of the University, Dr. Choh-Ming Li, received the honorary degree of LL.D. on April 29 during the sesquicentennial celebrations at the University of Michigan.

On that occasion, among the 800 heads of higher education who sent their congratulations, 300 attended the celebrations, with 180 of them from overseas. Fifteen of these educational leaders were invited to speak. Dr. Li had the honour to be one of the several major speakers. His speech on “Higher Education in the Developing Countries in Tomorrow’s World” will be published in the Sesquicentennial Volume entitled Higher Education in Tomorrow’s World.

The Citation for Dr. Li when the honorary degree was conferred reads as follows.

“CHOH-MING LI, Vice-Chancellor of The Chinese University of Hong Kong.

Dr. Li taught in China during the Sino-Japanese War, helped subsequently to administer rehabilitation there, and then served on the faculty of his Alma Mater at Berkeley, California, before assuming his present post. Having followed economic developments in China all the while, he has been able in part to keep that nation within the pale of international comprehension. Let us hopefully suppose that his superb intellect and energy, so characteristic of his race, foretell the benefits which shall accrue to us all when his native land concludes her travail and begins again to share her resources of mind and spirit with the remainder of the human family.

It is a privilege to confer on him now the degree Doctor of Laws.”

CONFERENCE ON TEACHING METHODS

The second Conference on Teaching Methods was held on May 1, 3, and 4 at the City Hall. It was organized mainly to hold further discussions of the basic issues dealt with in the first conference held early this year in January.

At a meeting of the Vice-Chancellor with the Deans of the three Faculties in March, it was agreed that the Deans would call separate meetings of the Faculties for a more thorough deliberation on the problems of Teaching Methods encountered in each Faculty.

The reports presented by the Chairmen of the meetings are expected to contribute further to the academic programme of the University.

EXAMINATION STARTS

The University’s Degree/Diploma Examination and the Degree Examination Part I for this year began on May 8 at the three Colleges. A total of 991 senior and junior students are taking part.
At the invitation of the Vice-Chancellor, Mr. Philip E. Lilienthal, Associate Director of the University of California Press, arrived in Hong Kong on May 1 to serve as his consultant on matters relating to the establishment of The Chinese University Press, with some reference to the handling of the University's publications overseas.

During his one week's stay here, Mr. Lilienthal met with the staff of the University who were concerned with its publishing matters and problems. He also called on all three Colleges and spent a whole day in interviewing College staff members who were responsible for and interested in matters of publication.

On the morning of May 6, Mr. Lilienthal called on the Vice-Chancellor and made an oral report on his recommendations, which would be presented in writing later. He left Hong Kong that afternoon.

The University has secured corporate membership in the Society for Research into Higher Education.

The Society was set up in London in December, 1964 to encourage and co-ordinate research into all forms of higher education. It seeks to make research findings more generally available and to promote their more effective use. Activities of the Society include: (1) organizing conferences, seminars and other meetings, (2) publishing bibliographies, reports, abstracts of learned works, and review monographs, and (3), working in collaboration with other national bodies interested in research into higher education, and seeking to establish contact with overseas organizations.

It is hoped that through participating in the Society's conferences and seminars, the University will obtain direct and first-hand knowledge and information concerning contemporary educational problems and developments.

The exchange programme between The Chinese University and British universities in the United Kingdom, established under the sponsorship of the Leverhulme Trust Fund, is now in full operation. The programme provides opportunity for the University to invite a senior academic from the United Kingdom for a period of four months and, in the meantime, seconding a junior member of the University's staff to a British institution for an academic year.
Last summer, Dr. Shiao Shih-yen, Lecturer in Philosophy, New Asia College, was awarded a Leverhulme Visiting Fellowship and entered the London School of Oriental and African Studies (S.O.A.S.) to study philosophy with emphasis on Mediaeval philosophy.

Another teaching staff member of the University, Mr. Lo Chiu Ching, Assistant Lecturer in Chinese History of Chung Chi College, has now been chosen as the second Leverhulme Visiting Scholar from The Chinese University. Mr. Lo will be leaving for London this summer to spend a year carrying on research work on Sino-British relations in the late Ch'ing at the London School of Oriental and African Studies.

Miss Barbara Ward, Lecturer in Asian Anthropology at the S.O.A.S., arrived in Hong Kong in April. As the first Leverhulme Visiting Scholar, Miss Ward's role is to stimulate research among her colleagues at The Chinese University. In addition, she will also conduct a seminar for graduate students.

Miss Ward delivered her first public lecture on May 19 at the Y.W.C.A. The lecture, entitled "The Changing Role of Women in Asia", was sponsored by the University's Board of Studies in Sociology.

PITTSBURGH PROGRAMME

The University of Pittsburgh and this University will have a programme to exchange teachers and graduate students, and to develop courses and joint research projects. A preliminary plan was mapped out on May 2 in meetings between Pittsburgh officials and Vice-Chancellor C.M. Li at Pittsburgh.

The discussion between the two Universities began last February when Dr. Charles Peake, Academic Vice-Chancellor of the University of Pittsburgh, came to Hong Kong at Dr. Li's invitation. The working relationship between the two Universities dates back two years ago when two prominent Pittsburgh sociologists, Professors C.K. Yang and B. Holzner, were invited to come to advise The Chinese University on the development of its programme in Sociology.

GOVERNMENT SCHOLARSHIPS AND BURSARIES

Fifteen Government scholarships tenable at The Chinese University will be awarded to local students this year. The awards will be based on the results of the University's Matriculation Examination. The maximum value of a scholarship will be $1,000 a year but the Selection Committee has the discretion to award scholarships of lesser value or to make purely honorary awards in the light of financial circumstances of applicants.

In addition to the scholarships, about forty bursaries will also be awarded this year. Fifteen of these will be in the Arts Faculty and twenty-five in the Science Faculty. These bursaries will be tenable for the normal period of an approved degree course or for the one-year course leading to the University's Diploma of Education. The amount of any bursary will likewise be determined by the financial need of the individual student and will not exceed $3,000 a year. Application forms and full details can be obtained from the Education Department of the Hong Kong Government.

SUMMER COURSES

In addition to the intensive summer courses in English to be given this year, courses in Fine Arts and Japanese Language will also be introduced during the summer vacation.

From July 27 through August 28, the summer courses in Fine Arts will be given by the Fine Arts Department of New Asia College. Various courses in Chinese painting, history of Chinese art, history of European art, art designing, and others will be given by instructors of the Department. Members of the public who are interested in the field and wish to acquire its basic principles or further theories are welcome. Details concerning the application will be announced in due course.

The Section of Japanese Studies of the Chinese Department of Chung Chi College will offer two Japanese courses, elementary and supplementary, to both staff and students this summer. With satisfactory completion of the supplementary course, students may be admitted to the advanced Japanese course the following term.
