New Facilities for United College

United College was founded in 1956 by the amalgamation of five post-secondary colleges which combined their resources in order to provide a more efficient system of higher education for both refugee and local students. When The Chinese University of Hong Kong was formed in 1963, it became one of the three Foundation Colleges of the University.

From inception, United College has been faced with the problem of accommodation. At present, the College is housed in various buildings leased from the Hong Kong Government, located on Bonham Road, High Street and Caine Lane in the western part of Hong Kong Island.

The Master Development Plan for the 333-acre site of The Chinese University near Shatin in the New Territories includes the construction of a complex of new buildings for United College on a plateaux at the top of a mountain 460 feet above sea level. Construction of these buildings is scheduled to start in mid-summer with completion projected not later than August 1971. This will enable all activities of the College to be re-located next year during the summer vacation period and permit full-scale operation on the new campus by the start of academic year 1971/72.

The premises on Bonham Road were acquired in 1962 and presently house the main administrative offices, the Library, lecture rooms and staff offices of the Faculty of Arts, a 40-booth Language Laboratory, the College Hall and the Student Union. In 1964, a part of the Pathological Institute Building on Caine Lane was rented to provide space for science laboratories. These facilities were augmented two years later by the acquisition of the former Disinfecting Station on Caine Lane for use as additional laboratories, lecture rooms and staff offices of the Faculty of Science.

In January 1969, a Government building on High Street was obtained to provide space for the Bursar's Office, more lecture rooms and staff offices for the Faculty of Commerce and Social Science. This building was made available as a substitute for the premises previously occupied by the College on Eastern Street which the Government demolished in connection with the erection of a hospital.

The vexing problem of accommodation which the College has faced in the past will soon dissipate.
Arts and Administration Building

This 4-storey structure will provide a total usable area of 18,000 sq. ft. Its design provides for lecture rooms on the ground floor with administrative offices on the first floor and faculty offices and language laboratories on the second and third floors. It will overlook the University Headquarters 150 feet below and the Chung Chi College campus on the shore of Sha Tin Hoi.

Commerce and Social Science Building and Lecture Theatre Complex

This building will be 5-stories in height and have a total usable area of 26,000 sq. ft. The ground and first floors will consist of lecture theatres in an adjacent complex. The remaining 3 floors will include faculty offices, a commerce laboratory, cartography laboratory and ancillary facilities. The building will be sited opposite the Arts and Administration Building overlooking Tolo Harbour.

Library

The Library will consist of three storeys with a small basement (lower ground floor) representing a total usable area of 16,500 sq. ft. It will be located centrally in relation to the College academic buildings.

Student/Staff Amenities Building and Gymnasium

One section of this facility will have four storeys and the other two storeys. An 8,000 sq. ft. gymnasium will be built on top of the Dining Hall and Kitchen to form two storeys. The remaining part of the building constitutes a usable floor area of 22,500 sq. ft. Part of the first and third floors and all of the second floor will be devoted to student amenities. The remainder of the first floor will provide offices for the physical education staff and facilities for instruction in physical education. The remainder of the third floor will accommodate staff amenities, including a senior common room, a staff common room, a billiard room, a card room and a staff association office. Facilities to be provided for student amenities include a mixed common room, ladies’ common room, a card room, a study area and a music and games room. The Staff/Student Amenities complex will be located centrally in the student hostels area.

Maryknoll-Jesuit Hostels

This 4-storey structure, with a usable area of 41,000 sq. ft., is divided into a male and female wing, each accommodating 125 students. The Maryknoll and Jesuit Orders are jointly contributing half of the costs of construction and furnishings for this hostel which will be managed by them under arrangements agreed to between the College and the Orders. In addition to the 124 double and 2 single rooms provided for students, the two wardens and their staff will have accommodation at the far ends of the building on the 2nd and 3rd floors. Included in the design is space for an oratory as well as tea kitchens, laundry and ironing rooms, music and game rooms, committee rooms, reading and study areas and communal common rooms. Like the Commerce and Social Science Building, this building will also afford a beautiful panoramic view of Tolo Harbour.

Vice-Chancellor attends Inauguration of President of University of Hawaii

Dr. Choh-Ming Li, Vice-Chancellor of the University, attended the inauguration ceremony of the President of the University of Hawaii held in Hawaii on 18th March, 1970.

Dr. Li was invited personally by President Harlan Cleveland to attend his inauguration and to be the speaker at the inauguration luncheon. They discussed close co-operation between the University of Hawaii and this University during Dr. Li’s short stay in Hawaii. This is not the first time Dr. Li and President Cleveland have worked together. Twenty-five years ago, they worked hand in hand to tackle the gigantic task of relief and rehabilitation in war-torn China.

Speaking at the inauguration luncheon, Dr. Li emphasized that a university should be a meeting place of myriad minds of East and West. The following is Dr. Li’s speech:

It is a special honour for me to speak at this Inaugural Luncheon. This honour carries with it an unusual pleasure which is personal and could hardly be duplicated in one’s life. Some 25 years ago, President Cleveland and I tackled the gigantic and unprecedented task of relief and rehabilitation in war-torn China. Although one of us represented an international organization and the other the country concerned, our co-operation could not have been more harmonious and we never differed in basic principles. Now after all these years we have the opportunity and pleasure to work together again—certainly not in the same locality but on both shores of the Pacific and on the same endeavors of creating the best opportunities in which our youths receive their higher education. The nature of the task is different, but I am sure President Cleveland would agree with me that the challenge and the responsibility are just as complicated and difficult to fulfill. Before we face the future, let us take a look at the past.

Sixty three years ago this University was founded. It became operational with five students and twelve teachers. Now, with over 20,000 students, seven colleges, a graduate school and many research and service operations you will never again attain that standard. In 1907 you had a ratio of two and one quarter teachers for every one student—a ratio to be envied by any university in the world. Over the course of 63 years your teacher-student ratio has shrunk to seven teachers for every 100 students. I promise I will keep this confidential. I would not want Hong Kong to know that its new Chinese University has a much more favourable ratio of teachers to students than this great American university.

What these statistics really mean is that you have progressed from the training of a few elite to the education of all who are qualified to enter the university. Beyond this you have become a haven of opportunity for oriental peoples from all the western shores of the Pacific. And all those who have come to you could find former members of their own nations able to share with them a large part of a common cultural heritage whether they be Japanese or Portuguese, Koreans or Puerto Ricans, Samoans or Europeans.

Envisioned by the world, you have united in peace, progress, prosperity and, above all, in a common sense of identity among your citizens, all who have come to your shores from the four seas and quarters of the world. You have become the model cosmo-politan state, not only by force but by a common purpose. Your image in Asia is that of a successful society, uniquely positioned in the world—geographically near the middle of the Pacific, yet a state of the United States of America—oriented politically and economically to a great world power and at the same time open to Asia. You are appreciative of the Asian past and sensitive to the winds of change which now blow across the Pacific not as the trade winds, in one direction only.

James Michener in his novel on Hawaii sensitively suggested that everyman has his island—his dream. But islands in reality may, as England for centuries, have been more interrelated with the rest of the world than great land-mass, continental nations that have remained culturally insular. In a way unique, Hawaii, and in particular its University, serves two hemispheres, several continents—perhaps more precisely, two worlds. You have been almost from the beginning in 1907 to 1970 a pioneer not only in pineapples but in initiating and developing East-West university relations.

Scholars of other generation ago remember and have passed on through their studies the inspiration of an inter-cultural sharing with which the name of your late Senior Professor Emeritus, Charles A. Moore is synonymous: your early outreach in his programme of ‘Philosophy East and West’ that educational programme significantly inspired and involved several professors of my own university.

Its merits were, in part at least, the basis of the new role which your University now plays. Through the world-famous East-West Center, you have already entered upon a new role as the mediator of the intellectual life of the opposite shores of the Pacific. You are now doing in the Western world what we of the member universities of the Association of Southeast Asian Institutions of Higher Learning are striving to achieve. For us all the ultimate goal is not geographical, but in principle as well as fact fulfiling the role of all great universities of the past, a meeting place of myriad minds—and first of all of East and West.

Much you have achieved—more you will achieve. On this occasion, as a new and distinguished president is assuming office, it is fitting that I should convey to you on behalf of our students, faculty staffs, and the universities west of the East-West Center, as well as faculty staffs of the Far East, our sincere appreciation of the opportunities you have so generously offered. May I express the hope of my own and many other universities so far west of this furtherest western American university that you should continue to exemplify the state and the university of opportunity to our East.

May I express the hope of my own and many other universities so far west of this furthest western American university that you shall continue as state and the university of opportunity to our East.
All universities East or West, from where any man stands to face toward his east or west or toward his past or future, are new universities. Your university has passed the mid-mark of a century’s existence. The Chinese University of Hong Kong has passed the mid-mark of a decade. Together with other universities of the world, they are all new because they are summoned to the same task. And this task is as yet not fully clear. With the decline of tradition East and West, the university so often has no ally. To be rooted in the tradition of the community is no longer meaningful. Indeed Asia has become the storm centre of the world, that centre having moved from Eastern Europe to the Atlantic and now to the Pacific.

We cannot shrug off the new academic exercises of poster writing and rioting with an oversimplified theory of reaction against tradition. At the deeper level students and whole communities are appealing to the university for man’s greatest need—something by which and for which intelligent youth can live. Possibly they are pleading for the one thing we have failed to give: inspiration.

In this increasingly strange, new world, the university must define its own proper functions. It is not a substitute for tradition, not a secularized church. But in its own way, by its own proper means it must offer something more than knowledge. It must at least provide that kind of knowledge that is “distilled experience” or “heightened consciousness”.

Everyman lives on an island. Everyman longs for another island where all that is cherished is preserved, all that beckons, guaranteed. There is no such island, no t even in Hawaii. But here, possibly more nearly real than either in Eurasia or your mainland, is that island, that university. Through self-denial Hawaii becomes self-sufficient. By opening up the shores to East and West, Hawaii is no longer insular. It is only natural that the University of Hawaii becomes the Centre of East and West, in name, in spirit and in deeds. It also follows that by bringing East and West together, a focus can be found, leading eventually to the discovery and creation of new perspectives and purposes for the needs of community and its youths.

The Chinese University of Hong Kong, by virtue of its name, is very representative of the East. But Hong Kong is an important international city at the other side of the Pacific. Thus in outlook and methodology, our University also represents the progressiveness of the West. Hopefully, we follow the splendid example set by the University of Hawaii to integrate East with West more harmoniously. Hopefully, we fulfill our humble share of the gigantic and unprecedented task of providing purpose and meaning to our youths who need spiritual relief and intellectual rehabilitation as badly as any war-torn nation in the world.

May I lay upon the University of Hawaii the charge to be a leader in such an intellectual and spiritual resurrection in the 70’s. Mr. President, let me bring you the salute from the East!

Public Lectures given by World History Consultants

Three of the world’s best-known historians, Sir Herbert Butterfield, Prof. Cho-yun Hsu and Prof. William H. McNeill, accepted the invitation of this University to act as consultants on the World History side of its History programme. Under the sponsorship of this University each of the three historians gave a public lecture at the City Hall during the period of consultation, 16th to 30th March, 1970. Prof. Noah E. Fehl, Professor of World History of the University, presided at the three lectures.

Sir Herbert Butterfield, sometime Vice-Chancellor of Cambridge University, Master of Peterhouse and Regius Professor of Modern History, has already established ties with Hong Kong. The University of Hong Kong conferred upon him his 12th Honorary Degree in 1961 and one of his score of outstanding publications, Christianity and History, was translated into Chinese as a text for Chung Chi College students. Sir Herbert lectured on “Universal History and the Comparative Study of Civilizations” on Wednesday, 18th March.

Professor Cho-yun Hsu, born in Wu-Shih of Kiangsu Province, heads the Department of History and directs graduate study in History at National Taiwan University. He received his Ph.D. degree at the University of Chicago after studying under Professor Li Tsung-tung in Taiwan and Professor H.G. Creel in Chicago. Professor Hsu is an active Associate Research Fellow at the Institute of History and Philology of Academia Sinica. His recent publication, Ancient China in Transition, An Analysis of Social Mobility, 722-222 B.C., has been widely hailed as the outstanding publication in this field. Prof. Hsu’s lecture, held on 20th March, was on “Ancient China in World History”.

Canadian born, Professor William H. McNeill, Chairman of the History Department and of its graduate division at the University of Chicago, is internationally known through his writings. His Race of the Year (1953) won the National Book Award and the Gordon J. Laing Prize. His distinguished service in the American forces 1941-46 led to the publication of several books on the war and its aftermath in Greece. He holds the rank of Lieutenant Colonel Reserve. Prof. McNeill spoke on “The Relevance of World History” on 25th March. All three lectures received enthusiastic response from the public and the lecture room of the City Hall was packed to capacity for all three lectures.

Gifts to the University

- The Economic Research Centre of the University has received an unrestricted grant of HK$10,000 per year for a period of five years in memory of Madam Chan Loi-sung, the grandmother of Mr. Stephen Cheong, Director of Lee Wah Weaving Factory Limited. The grant is to be used for research projects undertaken by the Economic Research Centre. The Centre is embarking on research in industry and finance in Hong Kong. This memorial so generously given for unrestricted research shows that the Hong Kong business community recognises the importance of impartial studies in improving the flexibility and profitability of business in this time of exceedingly rapid and complicated change.

- The University has received a special gift of books on Benjamin Franklin, American philosopher and statesman in the 18th century, from Yale University Press. The collection comprises The Papers of Benjamin Franklin (13 volumes), an Autobiography, and a selection of his letters, entitled Mr. Franklin, Mr. Franklin is the 232nd copy of a total of 250 copies printed exclusively for complimentary distribution. This valuable gift was dispatched to Hong Kong from the United States on 17th January, 1970, Benjamin Franklin’s 214th birthday. The books were presented to Dr. Choh-Ming Li, Vice-Chancellor of the University, by Dr. Francis S. Hutchins, Yale-in-China Representative in Hong Kong, on 11th March, 1970.

Registrar speaks at CUHK Students’ Ball Counting Ceremony

Forty-five student representatives of the three constituent Colleges of the University met several times in February and March this year to discuss a draft of the constitution of the University’s Student Union proposed by the Preparatory Committee which is composed of three students from each College. The proposal, accepted in principle by these representatives, was voted upon by the students of the three Colleges. They were asked to express confidence or non-confidence in the proposal by casting ballots at the three Colleges from 7th to 11th April, 1970. A ceremony to count the ballots was held on 13th April, at New Asia College. Mr. H.T. Wu, Registrar of the University, was invited to witness the counting.

The result of the vote showed that a majority of the students of the University favoured the proposal with 1039 out of 1103 ballots expressing confidence, a figure of well over one-third of the number of the students in the University.

A Summary of Mr. H.T. Wu’s Speech delivered in Chinese

To conduct a ceremony for the counting of ballots is something new in Hong Kong, but it is an indication of the importance attached to the draft constitution by the students of this University.

A Summary of Mr. H.T. Wu's Speech delivered in Chinese

To conduct a ceremony for the counting of ballots is something new in Hong Kong, but it is an indication of the importance attached to the draft constitution by the students of this University.
At the moment, we do not know the results of the voting. Some enterprising Sociology students may have conducted an opinion poll, but even such experts, I am sure, dare not make a most definite forecast. It seems to me that if a vote of no confidence is returned, there is no reason why the organizers should be disappointed because they will have another opportunity to look over once again the basic principles of the draft constitution. If, on the other hand, a vote of confidence is returned, the date of establishing the union will be much nearer. However, before this is actually realized, thinking leaders of the students probably would like to consider carefully the relationships between the students and the staff, and between the students and the University Council.

As all of you know, learning is not confined to book reading and listening to lectures, for it must include life both in and outside the campus. Intra-mural life is not confined to activities among the students themselves, but is closely related to the staff as well. In ages past, those who were after real learning also sought the guidance of good teachers on their life as well, and teachers also felt that this was part and parcel of their responsibilities. Therefore, an organization that leads students in enriching their lives should try to obtain the participation of their teachers in order to reap the benefits of the meeting of minds.

As a matter of fact, they were once students too and therefore have a deep understanding of, and sympathy with, the aspirations and needs of students. At the same time they have been working for many years, and because of their wider horizons, may be able to contribute valuable material for reference in decision making.

Earlier I implied that learning is extended also to areas outside the University. These are what is usually called the community or society. Since students also live in the community, I suppose they would like to obtain guidance from this source. In this respect, the system adopted by The Chinese University really gives the students much convenience, because the community has representatives to co-operate with the administrators and teachers of the University and share their responsibilities, so that town and gown they work together closely for the welfare and education of the next generation. For this reason the constitution of the University recognises the relationship between the Council and the Student Union. This is a good provision, and I hope it will be valued by the students, and be considered a bridge between them and the community, a medium for co-operation with society, and a way to maintain stability in Hong Kong.

May I extend to you my best wishes for genuine success in preparing the Student Union, so that all can see the mature thinking, harmonious life, and responsible action of you all.

Seminars of The Comparative and International Education Society

A group of 110 American and Canadian educators of The Comparative and International Education Society, led by Prof. Gerald H. Read, Director of International Seminars of the Society, arrived in Hong Kong on 24th March, 1970. They are university presidents, deans, professors and teachers taking a world tour to hold Seminars on Education in various countries. Seminars were held during their stay here at both this University and the University of Hong Kong.

On 25th March, the visiting group held a Seminar at the Chapel of Chung Chi College. They were greeted by Dr. C.T. Yung, Pro-Vice-Chancellor of the University. At the Seminar, Prof. H. Arthur Steiner, Director of the University of California Study Centre in Hong Kong, spoke on “Some Aspects of the Relations between Hong Kong and China”. The second talk was given by Mr. H.T. Wu, University Registrar and Director of the School of Educatiotn of this University, on the “Administrative, Finance, Selection, Examinations, etc., of The Chinese University of Hong Kong”.

The same group of educators held a Seminar on 26th March in Loke Yew Hall of the University of Hong Kong. Dr. K.E. Robinson, Vice-Chancellor of the University of Hong Kong, gave a talk on “The University of Hong Kong”; and Dr. R.F. Simpson, Senior Lecturer in Education of the University, spoke on “Educational Problems and Priorities in Hong Kong”. The Secretary of the University Grants Committee, Mr. S.F. Bailey, also delivered a speech on “Financing the Universities and Student Assistance Programmes” at the Seminar.

At the moment, we do not know the results of the voting. Some enterprising Sociology students may have conducted an end of term poll, but even such experts, I am sure, dare not make a most definite forecast. It seems to me that if a vote of no confidence is returned, there is no reason why the organizers should be disappointed because they will have another opportunity to look over once again the basic principles of the draft constitution. If, on the other hand, a vote of confidence is returned, then the date of establishing the union will be much nearer. However, before this is actually realized, thinking leaders of the students probably would like to consider carefully the relationships between the students and the staff, and between the students and the University Council.

As all of you know, learning is not confined to book reading and listening to lectures, for it must include life both in and outside the campus. Intramural life is not confined to activities among the students themselves, but is closely related to the staff as well. In ages past, those who were after real learning also sought the guidance of good teachers on their life as well, and teachers also felt that this was part and parcel of their responsibilities. Therefore, an organization that leads students in enriching their lives should try to obtain the participation of their teachers in order to reap the benefits of the meeting of minds.

As a matter of fact, they were once students too and therefore have a deep understanding of, and sympathy with, the aspirations and needs of students. At the same time they have been working for many years, and because of their wider horizons, may be able to direct the students to innumerable valuable material for reference in decision making.

Earlier I implied that learning is extended also to areas outside the University. These are what is usually called the community or society. Since students also live in the community, I suppose they would like to obtain guidance from this source. In this respect, the system adopted by The Chinese University really gives the students much convenience, because the community has representatives to co-operate with the administrators and teachers of the University and share their responsibilities, so that town and gown they work together closely for the welfare and education of the next generation. For this reason the constitution of the University recognizes the relationship between the Council and the Student Union. This is a good provision, and I hope it will be valued by the students, and be considered a bridge between them and the community, a medium for co-operation with society, and a way to maintain stability in Hong Kong.

May I extend to you my best wishes for genuine success in preparing the Student Union, so that all can see the true meaning, harmonious life, and responsible action of you all.

校務主任

在大學學生會會章草案

開典禮致詞

本校三成員學院學生代表四十五人,曾於本年二月及三月期間開會,初步通過大學學生會籌備委員會所擬定之學生會會章草案。各學院學生,又於四月七日至十一日,在學院內舉行會章草案信任投票,四月十三日在新亞書院舉行開票典禮,並邀請大學校務主任胡熙德先生在場監票。投票之結果現已掲曉,總票數為一一〇三,對會章草案投信任票者一〇三九票,表示已有超過三分之一之學生,贊成該草案。以下爲胡熙德主任之演講詞。諸位同學:本港有各式各樣的典禮,但開票而有典禮,可以見到中大同學對學生會會章草案信任投票,怎樣重視和寄予極大的希望,也可見同學們富有責任感。現在信任與不信任票的數目,還未審核,所以結果還是一個謎。攻讀社會學的同學們也許試演身手,舉行過一些「民意」測驗,但相信也不致作過肯定的預測。所以大家現在的情緒,或有類於揭榜前考生所體驗的。照我個人看來,假如不信任票佔多數,也不必失望,因爲籌備委員會各委員可以獲得多一個機會來重新審視草案的基本原則。如果信任票佔多數,則大學學生會成立,更近了。但是大學三成員為學生會成立,是一個重大的事。在還未實現同學底理想前,深思熟慮的領袖們,大概還會再三考慮學生會與師長、校董們的關係。大家都曉得:學生求學的範圍,不限於書本和師長的講授,也包括在校內與校外的生活。校內的生活不限於學生之間的活動,也和師長們有很密切的關係。自古以來,眞正求學的人,在生活上也求賢師的指導,而為人師者也感覺得這種指導是他責任的一部份。既然如此,一個領導學生生活的機構,便應設法獲得敎師們參與,藉收切礎之效。事實上,他們從前也是學生,對學生的期望和需要,有深刻的體驗與充份的同情心。同時因爲做事多年,視野較前廣闊,也許對重大的決定,可以貢獻値得考慮的資料和意見。上面說過,求學的範圍,伸展到校外,校外便是社會。學生的生活旣然也在社會之中,自然也會想到獲得社會的啓示。中大的制度在這方面給予學生莫大的方便,因爲社會有代表,和大學的行政人員與師長們共同負責,使學府與社會打成一片,共同促進下一代的福利與敎育。因此大學的組織,也承認校董會與學生會的關係。這實在是個好現象,我希望同學珍惜它,視為自己與社會間的橋樑,和社會合作的一個媒介,並達到香港安定的一條道路。現在本人謹祝諸位在籌備中大學生會的工作上有眞正的成功,使各方面的人士得見中大同學成熟的思想、和諧的生活和負責的行動。

大學校長參加夏威夷大學校長就職典禮

大學校長李卓敏博士於三月十七日離港前往夏威夷,參加基傅倫博士（Dr. Harlan Cleveland）於三月十八日就任夏威夷大學校長之典禮。李校長係應基傅倫校長之邀請,前往參加是項盛典,於就職典禮之餐會中致詞,並商討夏威夷大學與中文大學之合作計劃。基傅倫校長於二十五年前曾與李校長共同工作,在中國參加戰後之龐大救濟與善後計劃。

李校長在餐會中演說時,曾強調大學係東方與西方知識份子之匯合點。以下為李校長演說詞之摘要︰

今天我感覺到格外的榮幸,能在基傅倫校長就職典禮餐會中致詞。我也覺得特別高興,因為在二十五年前,我曾經和基傅倫校長合作,在戰後的中國共同負責一項龐大的救濟與善後的計劃。而在今天,我們又有機會在太平洋的兩岸從事同樣性質的工作。現在的工作與二十五年前的當然不同,但所負的責任與面臨的挑戰則一樣重大。

夏威夷大學於六十三年前成立,當時只有五位學生和十二位教師,現在已有超過二萬名的學生、七所學院、一所研究院及多項研究工作,成為一所志青年的進修機構;同時,也成為太平洋西岸東方國家學生就讀的好地方。到這裡來的,無論是日本、葡萄牙、韓國、波多黎各、薩摩亞羣島或歐洲人,都能享受共同的文化遺產並和諧地生活。

夏威夷為許多人所仰慕,因為是一個和平、進步及繁榮的國際社會,不是用暴力而是用同一的目的來維繫。在亞洲人的眼中,夏威夷是一個有成就的社會,一方面在經濟與政治上與美國相連,另一方面卻通向東方,對亞洲文化的傳統及現代的變化同樣關懷。

數十年前的學者也許會記得貴校的榮譽敎授莫雅敎授（Prof. Charles A. Moore）,他所主持的「東方與西方的哲學硏究計劃」,到現在,對學術界還有很大的影響;也许可以說,這是貴校新使命的基礎。貴校的東西文化中心,已成為太平洋兩岸文化交流的樞紐。在這一方面,東南亞高等敎育機構協會的會員大學與夏威夷大學相同,各大學的宗旨並不受地域的限制,最終的目的是使大學成爲東方與西方知識份子的集中地。

夏威夷大學已有六十三年的歷史,香港中文大學的歷史則只有短短的幾年。可是在這個日新月異的時代,全世界的大學都要負起一項新的使命;這項新的使命是甚麼,到現在還未完全明確,但在這個東方與西方的傳統日漸式微時期,假如大學完全依賴社會傳統,就會失去它的重要性的。目前大學生的不滿及不安的情緒漸增,大學不能單純視之為一般性的反傳統行為,因爲社會與學生現在要求大學去滿足社會及人民大衆的需求,使年青人過有目的及有意義的生活。

大學不能代替傳統,也不能代替宗敎。大學是獨特的,不應該只成爲傳遞知識的機構,必須努力使學生獲得「淨化的經驗」和「高尙的良知」。

夏威夷大學在形與質上已是東方與西方的中心,將東方與西方聯合起來成為一個焦點,去尋找新的境界與目的,以滿足年青人及社會的需求。

香港中文大學,顧名思義,具有濃厚的東方色彩,但香港是國際性的都市,因此,中文大學—大學校長就職典禮
New Facilities for United College

United College was founded in 1956 by the amalgamation of five post-secondary colleges which combined their resources in order to provide a more efficient system of higher education for both refugee and local students. When The Chinese University of Hong Kong was formed in 1963, it became one of the three Foundation Colleges of the University.

From inception, United College has been faced with the problem of accommodation. At present, the College is housed in various buildings leased from the Hong Kong Government, located on Bonham Road, High Street and Caine Lane in the western part of Hong Kong Island.

The premises on Bonham Road were acquired in 1962 and presently house the main administrative offices, the Library, lecture rooms and staff offices of the Faculty of Arts, a 400-booth Language Laboratory, the College Hall and the Student Union. In 1964, a part of the Pathological Institute Building on Caine Lane was rented to provide space for science laboratories. These facilities were augmented two years later by the acquisition of the former Disinfecting Station on Caine Lane for use as additional laboratories, lecture rooms and staff offices of the Faculty of Science.

In January 1969, a Government building on High Street was obtained to provide space for the Bursar's Office, more lecture rooms and staff offices for the Faculty of Commerce and Social Science. This building was made available as a substitute for the premises previously occupied by the College on Eastern Street which the Government demolished in connection with the erection of a hospital.

The vexing problem of accommodation which the College has faced in the past will soon dissipate. The Master Development Plan for the 333-acre site of The Chinese University near Shatin in the New Territories includes the construction of a complex of new buildings for United College on a plateau at the top of a mountain 460 feet above sea level. Construction of these buildings is scheduled to start in mid-summer with completion projected not later than August 1971. This will enable all activities of the College to be relocated next year during the summer vacation period and permit full-scale operation on the new campus by the start of academic year 1971/72.

Included in the United College building programme are the following projects:
