GENERAL INFORMATION

The Chinese University of Hong Kong was incorporated in October 1963 under a Hong Kong Ordinance ‘to establish a university with a federal constitution in which the principal language of instruction shall be Chinese’.

It is a self-governing corporation drawing its income from grants made by the Hong Kong Government, fees and other sources.

ORIGIN

The University has its origin in three Post-Secondary Colleges: New Asia College, Chung Chi College, and United College, which drew, in their early days, most of their teachers and students from the mainland of China. New Asia College was founded in 1949 by a group of “refugee” professors and students, and in the early period used rented flats in a poor district in Kowloon. Chung Chi College was founded in 1951 by educators and representatives of various Protestant Churches and Missions in Hong Kong. It had only sixty-three students at its founding. The United College of Hong Kong, founded in 1956, was a combination of five colleges established earlier. In spite of adversity, the Colleges developed steadily, with the help of friends and the community at large and by their own persistent efforts.

In 1957, these three Colleges came together to form the Chinese Colleges Joint Council. The objectives of the Council were to raise standards in Chinese higher education, to develop joint policies where possible, to work for the achievement of objects of common interest, and to represent Member Colleges in joint negotiations with Government where common policy was concerned.

In June 1959, Government, satisfied with the progress being made, announced that financial aid would be given to the three Colleges to help them improve their standards, and that in due course, provided the required standards were met, a commission would be appointed to review the readiness of the Colleges for university status.

In the same year, Mr. J.S. Fulton (now Lord Fulton, Vice-Chancellor of the University of Sussex) was invited to visit Hong Kong to advise on the general lines of development which the Colleges should pursue.

In 1960, Government introduced the Post-Secondary Colleges Ordinance and Regulations, which were designed to provide financial support to the three Colleges and to ensure that such support would be related to the measures taken to raise and maintain standards at a higher level.

Under the Grant Regulations, all the approved Post-Secondary Colleges were to select students for admission to first-year courses from among those attaining an approved standard in a Joint Entry Examination and to participate in a Joint Diploma Examination. A Joint Establishment Board was formed for the selection of staff.

In 1961, a University Preparatory Committee, chaired by the Hon. C.Y. Kwan, was appointed to advise on sites and buildings and matters connected with the establishment of the University.

In the same year advisers from Britain and the United States visited Hong Kong to advise the Colleges on development to the University level of their courses in arts, science, economics and business administration. Reports of these advisers were encouraging, and in 1962, Government, satisfied with the progress made on all fronts, announced the appointment of a commission to make recommendations on the establishment of the University. The Commission was a distinguished group of men: it was chaired by Mr. J.S. Fulton and had as members Dr. Choh-Ming Li (now Vice-Chancellor of the University), then Professor of Business Administration and Director of the Centre for Chinese Studies at the University of California, Dr. J.V. Loach, Registrar of the University of Leeds, Professor Thong Saw-pak, Professor of Physics at the University of Malaya, and Professor F.C. Young, Professor of Biochemistry at the University of Cambridge. Mr. I.C.M. Maxwell, Secretary of the Inter-University Council for Higher Education Overseas, served as the Commission's Secretary.

The Commission came to Hong Kong that summer, and, before its departure, publicly announced that in their view the three Post-Secondary Grant Colleges were ready for university status. It undertook the task of recommending the university organization and constitution. In April 1963, their eagerly awaited report, known as the Fulton Report, was published and received with general enthusiasm. The painstaking care and profoundity which characterize it has won the gratitude of the University towards Mr. Fulton and the other learned members of the Commission.

In June, 1963, Government announced that it approved the Commission's recommendations in principle, as did the Colleges. Then the formation of a Provisional Council was announced. On July 2, 1963, the necessary preliminary work having been completed, preparation for the University began. The Chinese University Ordinance and Statutes were enacted in September, 1963.

After Government made a promise to grant the University a plot of land at Shatin, New Territories, the University Architect was appointed to draw up a master plan of development. Temporary headquarters for the University was established at the Hang Seng Bank Building in Mongkok, Kowloon.

On October 17, 1963, the University was formally inaugurated. A Selection Committee was appointed to find a Vice-Chancellor for the University. Meanwhile, the University administration was entrusted to the first Pro-Vice-Chancellor, Dr. C.T. Yung, President of Chung Chi College, who was assisted by the Acting Registrar, Mr. H.T. Wu (now Registrar).

The appointment of Professor Choh-Ming Li as the first Vice-Chancellor was announced in December the same year, and he assumed office in January, 1964.

BUILDINGS AND LANDS

The University has at present no campus of itself. The Foundation Colleges are situated in three different parts of the Colony: New Asia in Kowloon, United on Hong Kong Island, and Chung Chi in the New Territories. The University central office and academic units are housed in office rooms in three buildings in downtown Kowloon, 677, 593-601A and 545, Nathan Road, respectively.
A campus site has been allocated to the University by the Hong Kong Government, which will provide a major share of the building costs.

The future University campus, which will eventually house several thousand students and staff, is to be built on the present barren hilltops behind Chung Chi College.

The site of the University, covering an area of 273 acres, is located about half way between Shatin and Taipo. The Taipo Road, a modern highway, runs along the hills to the west of the site and the Kowloon-Canton Railway on the seaward side, where there is a railway station.

The future campus buildings will be so grouped that the three Colleges will be sited around a University Headquarters complex, with New Asia College and United College to the north on higher level and Chung Chi College, at its present site, on lower ground to the south. United College will occupy the site near the Taipo Road, while New Asia College will be facing the sea. Consideration will be given to the Colleges' individualities in architectural style while maintaining an overall harmony.

The University Campus will have easy access from the Taipo Road. The Central Library Building and the Administrative Building will be sited at the western and southern edges on the University Square respectively. The 260 ft.-long and 115 ft.-wide paved and tree-lined Mall, stretching towards the east, linking the University Square with the Science Centre at the far end will form the outstanding feature of the University complex. The Research Institute II, the Dramatic Centre and the Great Hall will be at the northern side of the Mall and balanced by the block of building for Research Institutes I and III and the School of Education to be erected at the southern side. The Benjamin Franklin Centre, while facing the Administrative Building, will be at the southern boundary of the University Complex.

A large flat area close to the railway is designated for the University Sports Field. It will have sufficient space for three soccer pitches, a 400-metre track and a number of tennis and basketball courts. A central sports building for indoor games may be built on the solid ground west of the Sport Field.

The new Inter-University Hall, a University building on the present Chung Chi campus to house a number of research offices and visiting scholars from overseas, was completed in 1966. An Opening Cerem-on was performed by His Excellency the Governor, Sir David Trench 19th November.

According to the present schedule, it is hoped that the University may commence the site formation work in September, 1967 and the building work of the Benjamin Franklin Centre, the first building to be erected on its own campus site, will follow shortly after.

FINANCE

The University has certain endowments and other funds of its own.
The Colleges also have small endowment funds and receive small grants from private donors and interested associations. But apart from fees which are comparatively low, the main source of recurrent income is the Hong Kong Government through the University Grants Committee, though the University is a self-governing institution.

It has been estimated that the capital cost of producing the new buildings necessary for the development of the University may amount to as much as HK$160,000,000. Site formation may cost $10,000,000 or more. It is hoped that a part of the building costs may be obtained from overseas foundations and other sources.

LIAISON WITH THE WORLD OF LEARNING

The Chinese University is playing a special role in the world of learning in keeping with the unique international status of Hong Kong.
Relations with overseas institutions of higher education have been close and frequent, and their interest in the University has been keen and genuine. These ties prove to be of incalculable value in keeping The Chinese University "not just a Chinese institution with British affiliation, but a Chinese institution of international character", as the Vice-Chancellor said in his installation address.

Three Advisory Boards, consisting of prominent scholars from many parts of the world, are consulted by the University from time to time on academic matters. Serving on the University Council are such distinguished educators from overseas institutions as the Vice-Chancellor of the University of Sussex, the Director of the School of Oriental and African studies of the University of London, the President of Harvard University and Dr. Clark Kerr of the University of California.

— 90 —
Besides holding the membership of the British Commonwealth Association of Universities, the University was recently admitted by the Society for Research into Higher Education as one of its corporate members. It is also closely associated with the Inter-University Council for Higher Education Overseas in the United Kingdom.

In May, 1965, the University signed an exchange agreement with the University of California. This agreement has since been renewed every year. For the academic year 1966-67, five undergraduates and three graduate fellows from the University of California were enrolled for a year of studies in this University. The agreement provides for the waiver of non-resident tuition fees for a similar number of students from The Chinese University enrolled at any one of the campuses of the University of California. Besides, two fellowships were made available to the faculty members of this University to study at the Graduate School of Business Administration at the University of California. Thus, the exchange programme is a mutually enriching association, bringing with it an international recognition of the academic standard of The Chinese University.

Through a grant from the Ford Foundation, fifteen of the University's staff have gone to the United States, the senior men to engage in research and refresher courses and to get acquainted with the work of their American colleagues, the younger staff to study for higher degrees at Harvard-Yenching Institute, and the University of California Graduate School of Business Administration. Also, through the generosity of the Leverhulme Trust Fund, the Shell Oil Company and the Sino-British Fellowship Trust, several of our staff and graduates are studying in the United Kingdom, at the London School of Economics, and the School of Oriental and African Studies.

A lectureship in German Language has been established in the University by the German Academic Exchange Service for some time. Beginning with the academic year 1966-67 the French and Japanese Governments have also contributed the services of teachers of language and culture to the University.

From time to time the University invites prominent scholars from abroad for short periods of visits to give advice and assistance.

Aside from all these University-sponsored programmes, there has long been developed exchange by the Foundation Colleges with overseas institutions of higher learning. In particular, New Asia College has close connection with the Yale-in-China Association; Chung Chi College with Dartmouth-Project-Asia, the Wellesley-Yenching Committee and the Princeton-in Asia Committee; and United College with Williams College.

New Asia College and Yale-in-China have set up a Chinese Language Centre to help non-Chinese speaking people to learn to speak and read Chinese. For details of the Centre, please refer to the College entries in this Calendar, as the Centre is, administratively speaking, not an integral part of the University.

ADMISSION

The Matriculation Examination is designed primarily to select candidates of approved standard for admission to first year courses of all constituent Colleges. It is conducted according to the Regulations set by the Matriculation Board of the University.

No student is eligible to enter the Matriculation Examination unless he has passed the Hong Kong Chinese School Certificate Examination or the Hong Kong English School Certificate Examination with passes in both Chinese and English, and has subsequently pursued at least a one-year full time course in a registered day school and taking a sufficient number of subjects relevant to the Matriculation Examination of this University; or completed a six-year course in a registered secondary school and passed the Hong Kong Chinese School Examination with passes in both Chinese and English in or before 1965. A student possessing other qualifications or pleading special circumstances, however, may be considered on his individual merits.

SUMMER INTENSIVE COURSE IN ENGLISH

Each year, during the summer vacation, the University offers a month-long course in English for all the in-coming new students. The Summer Intensive course in English, as its name suggests, is very intensive both in the time allotted for study and in the arrangement of the curricula. The course meets five hours per day, five days per week. Each of the Foundation Colleges operates its own course, and the curricula of the three are quite different. The purpose, however, remains the same, which is to provide those entering students whose English standard is low the opportunity to improve considerably before the regular work of the term begins. Moreover, though the courses differ, the basic methods of all three are the same, providing concentrated work in oral drill followed by practice in college level reading and writing.

FACULTIES, DEGREES, AND DIPLOMAS

Admission to all Faculties and Colleges depends upon passing the Matriculation Examination of the University, or on obtaining exemption therefrom.

The University has at present three Faculties, namely, Arts, Science, and Commerce & Social Science.

Students entering any one of the above Faculties follow a four-year undergraduate course. They will be required to pass the Degree Examination consisting of two parts before they will be conferred a degree. Part I of the Examination will be taken at the end of the third and Part II at the end of the fourth year of their studies. Altogether they will take 7-9 papers. The degree of Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Science, Bachelor of Commerce, or Bachelor of Social Science will be conferred on those who pass all the requisite papers in a major and a minor subject.

The degree of Master of Arts, Master of Science, or Master of Commerce will be conferred on graduate students who successfully complete a two-year course in the Graduate School.

Students having successfully completed a one-year postgraduate course in the School of Education receive a Diploma in Education.

The University has power to confer higher degrees and as faculties and staff increase, further degree programmes will be initiated.

UNDERGRADUATE TEACHING

On the whole, each of the University's Foundation Colleges conducts its own undergraduate teaching. The names of the Departments established in the Colleges will be found in the College entries in this Calendar.
The curricula, however, are decided and the standards set by the University’s different Boards of Studies and approved by the Senate, by which the Boards of Studies are set up. There are now 15 Boards of Studies including one on postgraduate studies, each taking care of one (or one group) of the following subjects:

Biology  Chemistry  Chinese Language & Literature
Commerce  Economics  Education
English Language & Literature  Geography  History
Journalism  Mathematics  Philosophy, Fine Arts, Religious Knowledge and Music
Physics  Social Work  Sociology

Beginning from the undergraduates’ third year, intercollegiate teaching is the aim, and classes for students of all Colleges increase as more space for them becomes available. Such teaching is expected to be expanded when the university campus is completed.

On the undergraduate level, a broad change in teaching methods is taking place with the introduction of small-class teaching and seminars and the “core” programme in the curricula. The latter represents a reduction of required courses in each subject field to a minimum, thus freeing the teachers for tutorial work and more research, and also giving the students greater freedom to exercise their intellectual curiosity.

PROFESSIONAL DEPARTMENTS

The Department of Journalism is at New Asia College. It is an undergraduate professional department offering only third and fourth year courses leading to the degree of B.S.Sc. Enrolment is open on a competitive basis to students who have successfully completed two years of study at one of the Foundation Colleges.

The Department is operated in conjunction with the Mass Communications Centre within the Institute of Social Studies and the Humanities.
The Department of Social Work, another professional department, is located at two Colleges—Chung Chi and United. It is similar to the Department of Journalism in enrolment and admission.

UNIVERSITY LIBRARY

The University Library, which is housed on three floors of a building in downtown Kowloon, serves mainly the teaching and research staff and the graduate students of the University. It is still in its infancy, and it will take some time before it is fully developed. However, the Library’s work has already been started and is now carried out by professionally trained personnel according to a scheme carefully drawn up by international library experts.

At present the University Library is currently establishing a union catalogue of all the books and journals in the Libraries of the three Foundation Colleges as well as those in the University Library. This central union catalogue will serve as a comprehensive record of library resources of the whole University.

In selecting materials for the Library, the Library staff works closely with the Boards of Studies, so that the building up of the library collections may reflect the teaching and research needs of the faculties.

In the academic year 1966-67 the Library acquired two very good collections of Chinese old books in traditional format of silk stitched fascicles with over 50 Ming editions and many early Ch’ing editions.

The following statistics show the number of titles and of volumes of books in different languages in the Library:

Besides the books, the Library holds about 175 journals in Chinese, 875 in Japanese and 640 in Western languages.
Journals currently received amount to 32 in Chinese, 30 in Japanese and 495 in Western languages.

Planning for the new library building on the University Campus at Shatin, New Territories, is gradually advancing with the advice of international library experts and the University Librarian. The new building is expected to be ready in 1970.

Before the completion of the new Library building, books and journals acquired by the Library will be kept in different places: the Library itself, the School of Education, the various research centres and institutes, and the libraries of the Foundation Colleges.

The three College Libraries with a total collection of over 244,000 volumes will be maintained and will continue to expand within the Colleges. Details concerning the three College Libraries are available in the College entries in this Calendar.

UNIVERSITY MOTTO, COLOURS, AND EMBLEM

The motto of the University is 博文約禮 (Po Wen Yueh Li):
'By extensively studying all learning, and keeping himself under the restraint of the rules of propriety, one may thus likewise not err from what is right.'

(Legge's version of the Four Books)

As recorded in the Analects of Confucius, Yen Yuan, one disciple of Confucius', in praising the education he received from the Master, quoted '博文約禮' as its characteristics. The great Sung Confucianists, the Ch'eng brothers and Chu Hsi, also mentioned '博文約禮' as an important educational principle of Confucius.

To interpret it in modern terms, '文' covers all kinds of knowledge or learning. Thus, the terms '天文' (the learning of Heaven), '地文' (the learning of the Earth) and '人文' (the learning of Man), are broadly used. Together they include the humanities, social sciences and natural sciences.

'禮' covers all rules of propriety required either of an individual, a society or a government.

A man's intellectual horizon must constantly be broadened—this is '博文'; his personality may only be developed within the bounds of the rules of propriety—this is '約禮'. The University motto therefore lays equal emphasis on the intellectual as well as the moral aspect of education.

The University colours are purple and gold, symbolizing devotion and loyalty (purple) and perseverance and resolution (gold).
The emblem of the University is the mythical Chinese bird “Feng”, which is chosen because of its association in Han and later times with the South, as well as with nobility, beauty, loyalty, majesty, and many other virtues.

GENERAL INFORMATION

The School of Education was first established in September 1965, under the direct management of the University, to offer a one-year postgraduate course including practical teaching, leading to a Diploma in Education.

The first major programme of the School is to provide training for graduates of approved universities to teach in local secondary schools. Emphasis is placed on training of teachers with strong subject matter specializations combined with a foundation in theoretical and professional studies. In the curriculum, twelve weeks of the academic year are occupied by practical teaching while the theoretical studies are concentrated in four months from December to March each year.
In the academic year 1966-67, eleven principals of local secondary schools were invited to serve as the School's Honorary Supervisors, in addition to its regular staff, to give guidance to its students doing practical teaching in their schools. The system is a good link between the University and the local secondary school system.

For language training, the School is equipped with a 16-booth language laboratory and an adequate collection of audiovisual aids to further the students' abilities in all English communication areas.

In the academic year 1967-68, the School will continue to offer the one-year course to university graduates and secondary school teachers who are graduates of this University and approved universities with a major subject in an area represented in secondary school teaching programmes. The maximum intake of students is thirty. In addition, the School will offer a two-year part-time evening course leading to a Diploma in Education, which will be a qualification for teaching in local secondary schools. For this year, the course will accommodate up to twenty students with three years' standing after graduation. All candidates will be required to sit for a qualifying examination.

Fees payable by students of the School are as follows:—

(1) Caution money  ...  ...  ...  HK$100
(2) Composition fees
   one-year course  ...  ...  ...  HK$800
   two-year course  ...  ...  ...  HK$400  per annum

A limited number of Government bursaries are available to needy students. Among the nine American Women's Association scholarships of HK$1,000 each donated to this University, five will be awarded to needy students of the School.

DEPARTMENT OF EXTRA-MURAL STUDIES

The Department aims to identify the needs of the community and to serve it by offering opportunities for continuing education, utilising the teaching and research resources of the University as well as the community as a whole.

From April 1966 to March 1967, the Department offered a total of 195 courses and had an enrolment of almost 8,000. Apart from general courses, the Department also offered Certificate Programmes which now include Hotel Management, Tourist Guiding, Advanced Translation, Social Welfare and Applied Design. Other Certificate Programmes including Chinese History, Librarianship, Computer Programming, and Transistor Technology will start in Autumn 1967. Participants in Extra-mural courses include persons from all walks of life of various ages and levels of education.

A Conference of Continuing Education Administrators was held at the Peninsula Hotel in April, 1967. The Conference was attended by over 60 educationists from the two Universities, the Education Department, various Training units and other educational institutions.

The Department’s publications include the following:

—Handful of Hong Kong by Joseph Jones
—The Need for Guidance in Education
—A Bibliography of Writings on The Principles and Methods of Translation
—A Touristic Guide to Hong Kong (in preparation)
—Conference of Continuing Education Administrators (in preparation)

Information brochures and leaflets are issued regularly and are obtainable free on request.

INSTITUTES AND RESEARCH CENTRES

Research is a direct responsibility of the University itself. It aims to provide faculty members with research facilities so as to enable them to keep up with the latest developments in their own field and to contribute to them.

In March 1965, the University formally established two Institutes, namely, the Institute of Social Studies and the Humanities, and the Institute of Science and Technology. Generally, the development of the Institutes is as follows: individual faculty research may develop into a group or inter-disciplinary effort; when substantial outside financial support permits, a research unit, a centre, or an independent institute would be established. Various research centres have been set up within these two Institutes to concentrate on specific fields of studies. In addition, research projects in the fields of History, Linguistics, Education, Biology, Chemistry and Physics are conducted by individual faculty members.

Social Survey Research Centre

With a grant from the Ford Foundation and with the cooperation of Survey Research Centre and the Centre for Chinese Studies of the University of California, Berkeley, the Social Survey Research Centre was established in February 1966, for the purpose of providing research and training opportunities for students and staff; to conduct basic research on the Hong Kong population, as well as on Overseas Chinese in Southeast Asia; and to meet the applied research needs of the community. In addition, it is also prepared to assist scholars in other countries who wish to conduct bona fide academic studies on Hong Kong.

The Centre is now developing its sampling, interviewing, data-processing, and other methodological and technical resources in the course of several major studies:
1. The Hong Kong Urban Family Life study—This is the first major basic social science study of the Hong Kong population. Sponsored by a grant from the Government Lottery Fund, this project is to investigate the social welfare implications arising from the rapid industrialization and urbanization of the community.

2. The needs of Hong Kong industry for higher level manpower—Sponsored by the Government’s Special Committee on Higher Education, this study is collecting organizational charts and related information from manufacturing firms which employ 200 or more workers. Among other things, analytical attention will be given to patterns of recruitment and promotion, to the relationship between occupational skills and occupational tasks, and to determinants of innovative behavior within different kinds of firms.

3. Patterns and problems of inter-group relations in Southeast Asia—Funded by a Ford Foundation grant to the University of California, Berkeley, for comparative and international studies, this pilot exploratory project will be investigating a variety of issues related to developments within and between Chinese and non-Chinese populations in Southeast Asia.

4. An evaluation of a family planning program—At the time the Family Planning Association of Hong Kong opened a new clinic in one of the resettlement estates, the Association and Church World Service cooperated in experimenting with two different approaches to encouraging women in the estate to attend the clinic. Except for a preliminary census, the Social Survey Research Centre designed the studies to evaluate these approaches, and the Centre also will assume responsibilities for analyzing the materials.

Economic Research Centre

Under contract with the United States Department of Agriculture, the Economic Research Centre has been engaged since 1965 in the making of projections of Hong Kong’s demand and supply for agricultural products in the next fifteen years in the light of the long-term trends in local development, together with explicit projections of the Colony’s import requirements. The study entails estimation of Hong Kong’s national income and population growth to afford a basis for commodity projections. The entire study is now all but completed.

Apart from undertaking group research projects, the Economic Research Centre has the function of facilitating the research of individual scholars and graduate students. To this end, the Centre and the Lingnan Institute of Business Administration have established a joint research library, complete with a comprehensive collection of all the leading learned journals (already on order) in the two disciplines extending back to 1950 or earlier, as well as advanced reference works and research materials with special reference to Hong Kong and the neighboring countries. The research library, a part of the University Central Library, is located in the Inter-University Hall (on Chung Chi College grounds) which also houses the Lingnan Institute and the Economic Research Centre. The Centre also sponsors regular economics seminars at which staff members exchange research ideas and expose their work in progress to comment and criticism. Conceived as a focal point for research, group or individual, the Centre stands ready to offer the services of its available secretarial and research assistance personnel as well as the use of its calculating facilities. Although the present layout of the University makes regular use of the Centre’s facilities by College staff difficult, it is hoped that with gradual steps being taken to ease the problem the situation will soon change.

Several members of the Economics Faculty of the University are still actively engaged in revising or drafting their contributions to the agricultural projections study. Others are conducting individual research on aspects of the economies of Hong Kong and Mainland China as well as in the field of statistics and econometrics.

The Geographical Research Centre

The Geographical Research Centre, one of the few research centres early established by The Chinese University of Hong Kong, was established in January 1966. In May of the same year it moved into a new rented building and immediately started its work. The principal research work carried on in this Centre is closely tied to the teaching in the Geography Division of the Graduate School.

The Centre’s current research work falls into two general categories: the geographical studies of China and the geographical studies of Hong Kong. The Geographical studies of China is again divided into two branches: (1) Historical and cultural geography of China. In this research, the materials used are mainly the fang-chih or local gazetteer, The Twenty-five Histories (二十五史), and other historical records. So far we have completed four monographs and produced incidentally sixty-two historical maps of China, including those showing the distribution, building dates and sizes of the wall-cities of every dynasty. In addition, we are also preparing the first volume of Selected Famous Chinese Travels Annotated (中國著名遊記選注), in which scientific geographical concepts and methods will be used in making the annotations. (2) Contemporary Chinese geographical studies. In this branch, we often meet with difficulties in pushing on the work because of the unavailability of the latest information. The Agricultural Regions of China is the only report we have finished and published. The other two reports, Urbanization in China and Population Density Map of China are ready to be printed.

With regard to the geographical studies of Hong Kong, between July 1966 and April 1967 the Centre finished the survey of the land use in the urban area. Up to date we have prepared a 17-colour land use map. This map, together with its report—The Functional Land Use in Urban Area of Hong Kong will be sent to the press in due course. We have also finished specific survey of the use of floor space in the districts of Yaumati and Sanpokong, and the mapping work is also completed.

The districts of Hong Kong are divided in various ways, yet none of these patterns of division fits into the geographical studies. The Centre is now trying to modify the districts of Hong Kong on the basis of the materials supplied by various sources, so that the new division may have more “geographical basis” and more practical value.

With the financial support from the Rockefeller Foundation, one of the research projects—The Population of Hong Kong—is well under way. Two population maps of scale 1:8,000 were completed during the year.

In order to check on the research findings, the Centre frequently conducts seminars, which are often joined by people from outside. Furthermore, through Prof. Chen’s contacts, the Centre has also established well-founded relationships with the leading geographical institutions in the other parts of the world. We are also visited from time to time by geographers of international renown.
The Centre has a separate reference library housing about 20,000 geographical books and periodicals. The periodicals include leading geographical journals in all languages except Russian and almost all of them are complete sets.

The Chinese Linguistics Research Centre

The Chinese Linguistics Research Centre is now working on two important projects:

1. Translation Project of Prof. Y.R. Chao’s Grammar of Spoken Chinese (University of California Press, 1967)—though Chinese dialects differ considerably from one another in sounds as well as in daily vocabulary, they share common features of grammar. It is in this light that this book is so titled, rather than the more specific one, Grammar of Mandarin Chinese, despite the fact that examples are from Mandarin.

   The aim of this book is to “de-emphasize the standard aspect of Mandarin”; and in order to set the tone of the translated version to accord with this aim, attempts are made to approximate the colloquial style to the author’s writings and lectures in Chinese.

2. Linguistic Survey of Dialects in Kwangtung Province — in Kwangtung Province, most inhabitants speak the Cantonese Dialect, while the rest, the South Min Dialect or the Hakka Dialect. Within each branch of dialect, there are a lot of varieties. In Hong Kong, informants of almost every District (Hsien) of Kwangtung Province can be found. Within the next five years, dialects of over fifty Districts will be roughly surveyed in order to draw linguistic maps, while detailed studies on the dialects of four or five Districts will be carried on. The Centre is now engaging in the study of the Swatow Dialect.

Mass Communications Centre

Sponsored by the Hong Kong Advertisers’ Association, the Mass Communications Centre has just completed a project on the study of the Characteristics of Chinese Newspapers in Hong Kong. A survey of other media including radio, television, and periodicals in Hong Kong is also near completion.

The Centre is presently engaged in a study on A Blueprint for Journalism in The Chinese University of Hong Kong. The project will include: (1) A review of progress of The Chinese University in Journalism to date; (2) A study of current and future personnel requirements of all Hong Kong communications media; (3) A suggested schedule for long-range development of the Journalism Department and the Mass Communications Centre over a 10-year period. This will also include a study of the development of journalism education the world over; and (4) Examination of possible sources of outside (i.e. nongovernment) funds to support the projected development over a 10-year period at The Chinese University of Hong Kong.

Other projects completed by the Centre include a study on the Chinese drama as a means of mass communications and a study on Chinese typesetting (including the education and social development of the typical typesetter in Hong Kong, time and motion studies of typesetting, recommendation for mechanical improvement and possible reduction in the number of Chinese characters for newspaper use).

The Centre is also considering the possible establishment of a Graphic Arts Research Centre similar to those operated by newspaper trade associations in the United States.

Urban Study Centre

The Urban Study Centre was established in the autumn of 1966 with a grant from the Asia Foundation. The primary objective of the Centre is instructional. It aims at providing field studies for students in Sociology to bridge the gap between Western sociological theories in the context and social reality in Hong Kong so that theoretical instruction may become more empirically meaningful and that students will be trained in applying what they have learned from books and lectures to the social milieu in which they live. The second objective of the Centre is to conduct research on urban society and culture in Hong Kong. The Centre will collect basic data on general urban community structure as well as to conduct research on a special problem chosen by staff members.

"The Study of Kai-Fong Associations in Hong Kong", under a grant from the Harvard-Yenching Institute, is being conducted by staff of the Centre. The main purpose of this project is to make comprehensive, comparative and analytical study of the structure, functions and activities of this organization and to make concrete recommendations for their further improvement. The design of a series of Social Base Maps of Hong Kong is being considered. A detailed plan and budget for the project are under consideration.

Computer Centre

The Computer Centre was established in March 1967, and situated in the On Lee Building, Nathan Road. Its facilities include an IBM 1130 Computer and a set of IBM Unit Records Machines. The main purposes of the Centre are for faculty research and for students' instructions. A limited number of survey or research projects conducted by non-profit-making institutions have also made use of the facilities of the Centre.

As from the academic year 1967-68, undergraduate courses on computers and programming will be offered in the Colleges. Short concentrated programming courses for the faculty are also organized by the Centre from time to time.

Lingnan Institute of Business Administration

The inauguration of the Lingnan Institute of Business Administration in September, 1966 was made possible with funds supplied primarily by the trustees of Lingnan University as their contribution to the development of Hong Kong, where so many alumni of Lingnan University (formerly in Canton) are active.

The Institute provides facilities for graduate study and research in the broad area of business administration with special attention in the fields of accounting, finance, management and marketing.

HISTORY

Chung Chi College was founded in October, 1951, by representatives of various Protestant Churches in Hong Kong.

The College had a very modest beginning with 63 students enrolled the first year. It used borrowed and rented premises, first in the Cathedral hall and St. Paul's Co-educational College, and later on in Caine Road and in the newly-completed Bishop Hoare Memorial Building on Lower Albert Road. Expansion was made possible by financial help received from North America through the United Board for Christian Higher Education in Asia and the Trustees of Lingnan University and from Britain through the Asia Christian Colleges Association. Local individuals and firms also gave considerable support, and since 1959 the College has received substantial grants-in-aid from the Hong Kong Government.

In 1956 the College moved to its permanent site in the New Territories, in the beautiful Ma Liu Shui Valley. Government assisted this move with a grant of 10 acres of land and the building of a railway station. To allow more space for the growing number of buildings and for a playing field, this area has now been increased to nearly 70 acres partly by purchase of land and partly through Government grants.

The College was incorporated under an ordinance of the Hong Kong Government in 1955 with a Board of Governors as its supreme governing body. The College Council acts as the Board's executive committee and deals mainly with matters involving finance and buildings. Academic affairs are in the hands of the Academic Board, composed of departmental chairmen and other senior members of the staff, and of the Boards of the Faculties of Arts and of Science, which include all full-time members of the teaching departments and make recommendations to the Academic Board.

The departments of the Faculty of Arts are: Chinese Language and Literature, English Language and Literature, Economics and Business Administration, History and Geography, Music, Sociology and Social Work, Religious Knowledge and Philosophy; and of the Faculty of Science: Biology, Chemistry, Mathematics, Physics.

Buildings & Grounds

The grounds lie to the north and east of the Shatin-Taipo road in the valley previously farmed by the Ma Liu Shui villagers who moved to a new village at Kwan Ti five years ago. Most of the academic and administrative buildings, library, classrooms, laboratories and administration block, are situated just below the main road while the faculty apartments and student dormitories are on the other side of the valley below the future site of the University. Among the latest buildings to be finished are the President’s house, a teaching wing which houses the Departments of English, History & Geography, a staff centre, a fifth block of faculty apartments, the Lingnan Stadium (donated by Mr. Chan Tah Tai and named after Lingnan University) and the Inter-University Hall which is being used by the University until its own buildings are ready. Work has begun on a new teaching wing which completes the existing complex of classrooms and laboratories and on the road to the site of the Seminary. Urgent needs are for a new library, a new dining and student centre, a fourth student hostel and servants’ quarters. Funds are also being sought for a residence for single teaching staff and a music building.

Admission and Academic Programme

The College selects students for its four-year course of study from among those who (1) have completed an approved six-year course in an approved secondary school and have passed the Hong Kong Chinese School Certificate Examination or the Hong Kong English School Certificate Examination, and (2) have passed the Matriculation Examination of The Chinese University of Hong Kong.

All students are required to take a one-year course of Chinese, one- or two-year courses of English and four-year courses in general education. Although much of his first two years is spent on these general courses, a student is enrolled in the department of his major programme from the start.
Staff and Students

Chung Chi College in the academic year 1966/67 had a student enrolment of 703, of whom 380 were men and 323 were women. Most of the students were either born in Hong Kong or entered it in childhood or as migrants since 1949, but 32 came from Macao, Malaysia and other Southeast Asian countries. All were Chinese, except for 6 Americans and 1 Canadian who were admitted as special students. 39.3% of the students reported that they were Christians.

The teaching staff numbered 88 (including 12 visiting professors), of whom 63 are full time and 13 part-time. There are also 21 tutors and demonstrators.

Scholarships and Bursaries

In 1966/67 over half of the students received scholarships or bursaries of some kind. The College also has a loan fund.

Library

The Library now has a total of 85,678 volumes, of which 56,488 (9,019 titles) are in Asian languages and 29,191 (21,733 titles) are in European languages. It has also 557 Chinese and English periodicals available for reading and reference. There are 2,347 bound volumes of periodicals.

The Library provides free access to books and periodicals. Students are permitted to borrow for reading or study outside the library.

Extra-Curricular Activities

The Student Union exists to promote the general interests of the students, to organise their corporate activities, and to act as a recognized channel of communication between them and the College authorities. It is responsible for cultural, athletic and other extra-curricular activities, working through various societies, in particular the departmental societies, which play an active role in the life of the College.

In addition to the departmental societies there are the following societies and clubs:
The Student Christian Union,
The College Choir and Choral Society,
The Music Club,
The 4 C's Club for fostering relations between local and overseas students;
The Photograph Club,
The Arts Club,
The Dramatic Club,
The Oratorical and Debating Society.

The staff has a club of its own which meets periodically. Its activities are in the hands of four sub-committees: religious, cultural, recreational and welfare.

Chung Chi aims at a close relationship between staff and students. It is hoped that, as more staff and students are housed within the College precincts, there will be increased participation in extra-curricular activities.

Physical Education

The physical education programme at Chung Chi has laid emphasis on physical fitness training rather than on the development of skill and interest. Physical education is a required course for 1st-year students in all departments. Other students who are interested may take the course as an elective. Each student enrolled in physical education is required to attend one hour of class instruction each week and to practise one hour per week. At the end of each term students are given written tests in the principles and rules of the skill which they are learning; tests are also given to see if the student has reached the required standard.

College Health Service

The College maintains a health service, available to students and staff, directed by a physician with the help of a nurse. The Clinic is open five mornings a week.

A part-time dental surgeon was appointed in January, 1967. He visits the College five times a week to do fillings and extractions and give consultations on other dental matters for both students and staff.
A medical examination is required of all students before registration in the first year and once a year thereafter. Students in residence receive two examinations during each academic year.

The Clinic and Infirmary Building is conveniently located about half way between the teaching buildings and student hostels.

Research Institute of Far Eastern Studies

A Research Institute of Far Eastern Studies was established in the College in 1962. Its aims and purposes are:

1. to promote Far Eastern scholarship;
2. to coordinate existing research efforts;
3. to encourage and solicit individual and interdisciplinary research;
4. to provide opportunities for the exploration and extension of knowledge in Far Eastern studies, the application of modern methods of research to Chinese studies, and the discussion and clarification of significant problems and issues in this field.

The Institute is responsible for publishing The Chung Chi Journal which is a bilingual publication with two issues per year. Up to May, 1967 twelve issues had been published. It has also been devoting its attention to the gigantic undertaking of indexing the 24 Dynastic Histories. The first volume, "Index to Shih Chi", and the second volume, "Index to Han Shu", were published in 1964 and 1966 respectively. The third volume, "Index to Hou Han Shu", will be off the press very soon. The Institute has planned to complete the four histories, "Sze-Shih", in the first stage of the project.

The Chung Chi Theological Seminary

This Seminary is affiliated to Chung Chi College and works closely with the College Department of Religious Knowledge and Philosophy. It is sponsored by Churches of Hong Kong which are represented on the College Board. It offers courses of training for the Christian ministry for graduates of recognized senior middle schools who are introduced by their church authorities. At present there are three levels of study. Those who have graduated from senior middle school, but have not passed the Chinese University Matriculation Examination, will take at least five years of Seminary work, including courses in the College, but their College courses will count only toward their Seminary requirements for a B.Th. degree. Those who have passed the Matriculation Examination may take courses for credit in both Seminary and College and may, in five or six years, qualify for both B.A. and B.Th. degrees. The Seminary will also accept students with a University Degree who wish to take from one to three years of theological training at the graduate level for either a B.Th. or B.D. degree.

The curriculum is being revised to make it as useful as possible for Asian students. Details may be secured from the College Registrar’s Office.

The teaching is mainly in Cantonese or Mandarin and a reasonable command of English is also essential. The Seminary is inter-denominational and ecumenical, adhering to the Scriptures and the central core of doctrine of the historic church, with provision for individual participating churches to provide for special training of their own students.

The Seminary has its own site within the College premises, and buildings are now being erected. The President of the College is concurrently President of the Seminary, but the Seminary has its own Council, Constitution, and Dean. The Lok Yuk Theological Seminary of the Evangelical Hakka Church (related to the Basel Mission of Switzerland) has united with the Chung Chi Theological Seminary, and the door is open for a further union to strengthen the training of Christian personnel in this part of Asia.

Publications

In addition to the College Calendar, the College publishes the following:

1. The Chung Chi Journal, issued twice a year, with scholarly articles in Chinese or English.

4. The Chinese Literary Review (華國), published twice a year, reporting the results of research work done by the Department of Chinese Language and Literature in Chinese.

5. “Wen Hsin” (文訊), containing literary articles, published once a term by the Chinese Society in Chinese.

10. The Annual of Science, published jointly by the Biology, Chemistry, Mathematics and Physics Societies, the articles being mainly by students in Chinese and English.

HISTORY

New Asia College was founded in 1949 by its former President, Dr. Ch’ien Mu, and a small group of scholars from China. Their purpose was to preserve traditional Chinese culture and to balance it with Western learning that students might at once have a thorough knowledge of their cultural heritage and be prepared to cope with the modern world.

The College began humbly in impoverished surroundings, but soon attracted support both locally and from overseas. Since 1954 it has had the cooperation and support of the Yale-in-China Association which had been active in educational development in China for many years. It has also received support from other educational institutions and foundations, notably the Harvard-Yenching Institute, The Asia Foundation, the Rockefeller Foundation, the British Council and the Mencius Foundation. As a Grant College from 1959 to 1963, and now as a University College, it has received generous financial support from the Hong Kong Government since 1959. In 1953, with the help of The Asia Foundation, the Institute of Advanced Chinese Studies and Research was founded to pursue Chinese learning and research on a graduate level.

Today the College has four large new buildings, grouped about a small campus with space for social and recreational activities. A new building was completed in the spring of 1963. It includes an auditorium capable of seating 900 persons, several student recreational rooms and a dining hall. An additional floor on top of the Library has recently been erected to house additional classrooms and science laboratories. There are dormitory facilities for both men and women. The teaching staff numbers over one hundred, of which two-thirds are full-time. Enrolment has grown to 623 of which 24 are from overseas territories such as Japan, the United States, Laos and Malaysia.

Faculty of Arts: Department of Chinese Literature; Department of History; Department of Philosophy and Sociology; Department of English Language and Literature; Department of Fine Arts; Department of Journalism.

Faculty of Science: Department of Mathematics; Department of Physics; Department of Chemistry; Department of Biology.

Faculty of Commerce: Department of Economics; Department of Accounting and Finance; Department of Business Management.

At the graduate level the College offers in its Institute of Advanced Chinese Studies and Research a two-year course in Chinese history, literature and philosophy, and in Southeast Asian studies.

Admission

Admission to the College is very competitive. Students seeking admission must, in addition to passing the Matriculation Examination, satisfy the College that they have shown good competence at the Matriculation Examination in the course related to their fields of specialization.

Programme of Study

The four-year programme is divided into two parts. The first two years are devoted to languages, general education and basic courses in the student’s major and minor fields; the third and fourth years are for advanced courses for which some groundwork has been laid during the first and second years.

Major and Minor

Students must, with the advice of the Dean of Studies and the Head of their Department, choose one of the following as their major field of study: Chinese Literature, History, Philosophy, Sociology, English Language and Literature, Fine Arts, Journalism, Economics, Accounting, Finance, Business Management, Chemistry, Mathematics, Botany, Zoology, or Physics. Besides, students should choose a suitable subject as their minor.
Degree Examination

A student must meet the following requirements in order to be entitled to the Degree/Diploma issued by The Chinese University of Hong Kong:

1. Fulfil a four-year attendance requirement. For transfer students this requirement may be partially exempted.
2. Complete a total of at least 120 units including all the required courses prescribed by the College. For transfer students credits earned at other schools may be accepted in partial fulfilment of this requirement.
4. Pass the Degree-Diploma Examination.

Expenses

The following fees are charged:

1. Composition fee — $1,000 per academic year for all Science majors except Mathematics majors who pay $800 only; $800 per academic year for all Arts or Commerce majors.
2. Caution money — $100.
3. Students Union membership fee — $50.
4. Dormitory fee — $25 per month.

Scholarships and Bursaries

The New Asia College scholarship programme is designed both to provide education for students who would otherwise not be able to afford it, and to reward high academic achievement. For these two purposes, New Asia has a variety of bursaries and scholarships. The former include partial tuition aid, or full tuition aid in return for some work. The latter include special scholarships ranging from $600 to $3,240 per year. They are donated by the College, the Hong Kong Government, foundations and charitable organizations both local and overseas, as well as by interested individuals.
Library

The New Asia College Library has accommodation in the reading room for a maximum of 180 students. The stack rooms, which occupy three floors, can accommodate 200,000 volumes. The number of books in the library exceeds 108,000.

The Library has established a separate reading room where current periodicals in Chinese and other languages are available. A microfilm reading room has also been established to accommodate microfilms of rare Chinese books and certain out-of-print Chinese journals reproduced by the Library of Congress of the United States. A set of micro-films of Tun Huang Manuscripts reproduced by the British Museum is also available.

Laboratories

The College has science laboratories for its courses in Physics, Chemistry and Biology. Recent developments in Physics have been focused on Modern Physics, Optics, and Electronics Laboratories. Among the recent acquisitions of the Chemistry Laboratory are UV-Visible Spectrophotometer (Perkin-Elmer), argon gas-chromatograph (Pye), Precision polarimeter (Schmidt-Haensch), precision polarograph (Sargent). Recently the Biology Laboratories have acquired a Beckman-DB spectrophotometer, an automatic superspeed refrigerated centrifuge, a semiautomatic scintillation spectrometer, a humidity and temperature chamber and one set of optical comparator.

For courses in Business Management, such as Motion and Time Study, Production Control, Plant Layout, there is a Business Management Laboratory.

Dormitories

The College provides dormitories for students from overseas as well as local students who live far away. The men’s dormitory is in the north wing and at present accommodates about 90 students. The women’s dormitory is in the south wing and can accommodate 36 students. Each room is about 156 square feet in area. And in each dormitory there is a sick-room for isolating infectious diseases.
Dining Hall

A dining hall (canteen) is operated for the benefit of students and staff by a caterer under contract to the College. It can accommodate over 270 persons at a sitting. A specially appointed committee made up of students and staff members supervises the cleanliness and quality of the food and the service. The dining hall serves inexpensive meals three times a day. Light music is provided through a sound system.

Light refreshments may be obtained in the dining hall.

College Health Service

A medical examination by the College Physician and a chest X-ray are required of all students each summer before registration.

The facilities of the College Clinic are open to all students in the College. The Clinic is staffed by a resident trained nurse under the supervision of the College Physician who visits the Clinic to give medical attention at least thrice a week. All medicines are supplied by the College and are dispensed in the Clinic.

Extra-Curricular Activities

Extra-curricular activities form an important part of student life in the College. These fall into the following categories:

1. Student organization — In order to encourage students to engage in experience of self-government, self-expression and participation in the decision making processes, a Student Union has been established in the College. Besides the Student Union which represents the total student body, there are independent clubs of two types: those formed on a departmental basis, of which all students of a department are ipso facto members, and those on an entirely voluntary basis. The latter include Drama Club, Chess Club, Music Club, Chinese Music Club, Catholic Students Association, Christian Fellowship, New Asia Committee of World University Service, Photography Club, Fencing Club, Judo Club, and New Asia Branch of the College Students Social Service Team.

2. Athletic and other activities — Other extra-curricular activities include public speaking, debating, student publications, drama and music performance, ball games, and track and field contests.
Publications

The College regularly publishes journals and scholarly works of its faculty members. The following are among those issued in 1966/67:

The New Asia Journal, a semi-annual in Chinese on Chinese studies, is published by the Institute of Advanced Chinese Studies and Research of the College with the financial assistance of the Harvard-Yenching Institute. Beginning in August 1955 when the first issue appeared, a total of fifteen issues has been published. It includes essays and dissertations by faculty members and students on Chinese history, literature, philosophy, education, society, ethnic groups, arts, religion and customs.

The New Asia Academic Annual is of broader scope than The New Asia Journal. Written by faculty members and students, it consists mainly of articles under six main headings: philosophy, history, classical scholarship, literature, natural science and social science.

It began in 1959 and has had nine issues with a tenth issue under preparation.

In addition, the following Departmental Journals were published: Annual Journal of the Department of Chinese Literature, English Society Magazine, New Asia Arts, and Social and Economic Studies.

Institute of Advanced Chinese Studies and Research

The Institute of Advanced Chinese Studies and Research is an integral part of the College. It was founded in 1953 with the help of The Asia Foundation, and has developed with the aid of both the Harvard-Yenching Institute and the Rockefeller Foundation. Its aim is to provide opportunities for research and training in the fields of Chinese philosophy, history and literature. Research trainees for the two-year course are selected from graduates of approved universities and post-secondary colleges. In addition to research trainees, there are also Assistant Research Fellows who carry out independent investigations, and some Fellows and Associate Research Fellows engaging in advanced research.

In 1962, a new Southeast Asian Studies Section was initiated. In this section trainees may specialize in the history of Southeast Asia or engage in contemporary social and cultural investigations of Southeast Asia.
The Institute has a teaching staff of four Senior Lecturers; several senior faculty members from the College also participate in teaching at the Institute.

New Asia Yale-in-China
Chinese Language Center

To enable non-Chinese speakers to learn to speak and read Chinese, New Asia College and the Yale-in-China Association have jointly sponsored the Chinese Language Center. The Center was founded in October 1961 and moved to New Asia College in May 1963. It offers intensive courses in spoken Cantonese and Mandarin as well as in reading and recognition of characters.

A program of co-operation has been developed between the New Asia Yale-in-China Chinese Language Center and the Institute of Far Eastern Languages of Yale University.

Applications for admission should be made directly to the Chinese Language Center, 6 Farm Road, Kowloon, Hong Kong. Further information is available upon request.

HISTORY

United College was founded in 1956 by the amalgamation of five “refugee” post-secondary colleges (namely, Canton Overseas College, Kwang Hsia College, Wah Kiu College, Wen Hua College, and Ping Jing College of Accountancy) which decided to pool their resources so as to provide more efficiently higher education for both refugee and local students. It was incorporated under an Ordinance of the Hong Kong Government the following year, and began to receive Government subvention in 1959.

In the first three years of its existence, there were seven teaching departments—four in the Faculty of Arts and three in the Faculty of Commerce. In 1959, a Faculty of Science was started. During those early years the College experienced considerable difficulties, not the least of which was the problem of premises.

In February 1960, when the day section of the College became a Government-aided institution, a clear separation was made between the grant Day College and the private Evening School. From then on until the founding of The Chinese University of Hong Kong, the College passed through a period of important changes. Notable among these were the reorganization of its administration and revision of its curricula and syllabuses in the light of the reports by Sir James Duff, Dr. K. Mellanby, and Dr. F.E. Folts, which did much to put its administrative and teaching organization on a sound and firm footing. Through the improvements made in those years, the College’s role in fulfilling the community’s need for higher education was soon recognised, thus paving the way for it to attain the status of a Foundation College when The Chinese University of Hong Kong was founded on 17th October, 1963, as a result of the Fulton Commission’s recommendations.

In 1962 the College Board of Trustees was re-constituted to widen representation from the local community, and on 10th July, 1962 the Hon. Fung Ping-fan, C.B.E., K.St.J., J.P., was elected its Chairman.
In the same month Mr. T.C. Cheng, B.A., M.A., Dip.Ed., J.P., Chief Assistant Secretary for Chinese Affairs, accepted the Board of Trustees’ offer of appointment as President, and assumed office in January 1963.

Since then the College has made rapid progress which was reflected by the large increase in enrolment, improved quality of the students, as well as a general enlivening in all aspects of College life. From 1963 the College began an active campaign in recruiting staff of the right calibre on a world-wide basis and has achieved notable results. In instructional facilities it has not only succeeded in obtaining additional premises and essential equipment, but also effected considerable improvements on existing amenities.

Academic Policy

The College provides a four-year course of studies leading to the Bachelor’s degree. The first two years of the course is of a non-specialized nature with a fairly broad foundation, with a view to enable all students to make a study of Chinese Literature and to learn something of the history, culture and civilization of China; to appreciate, at the outset, the nature and interconnexion between the main branches of university studies, and to master a good working knowledge of English. In the third and fourth years, the students will specialize in the subjects they have selected. The educational system adopted is a balanced mixture of the well-tested features in the Chinese, British and American systems, the general organization and aims being derived in part from first degree course given in Chinese and American universities and from the “General” type of degree courses given in British universities.

The four-year programme is organized in two parts:

1. Two years of broad-based studies, including

   (a) Compulsory courses in Chinese with emphasis on language proficiency, appreciation of literature and some study of the broad aspects of Chinese history and culture;

   (b) Compulsory courses in English, with emphasis on practical usage, especially reading for information; and

   (c) Courses in other subjects including preliminary general work in subjects which will be studied more intensively in the Third and Fourth years.
2. Two years of intensive study of a limited range of subjects for which some groundwork has been laid in the First and Second years.

Normally the medium of instruction is Chinese, but English reference and text books are used to a great extent, particularly in the Third and Fourth Years.

Faculties

There are three Faculties in the College — Arts, Commerce and Social Science, and Science — with twelve Teaching Departments in all:

Faculty of Arts:
- Department of Chinese Language & Literature;
- Department of English Language & Literature;
- Department of History.

Faculty of Commerce and Social Science:
- Department of Accounting and Finance;
- Department of Business Management;
- Department of Economics;
- Department of Geography;
- Department of Sociology;
- Department of Social Work.

Faculty of Science:
- Department of Chemistry;
- Department of Mathematics;
- Department of Physics and Electronics

Each Faculty has a Dean, who, subject to the direction of the Academic Board and the advice of the Board of Faculty, is in general charge of affairs within the Faculty. Each Teaching Department has a Head nominated by the President and appointed by the Academic Board. The Head of a Teaching Department is responsible to the Faculty for the organization of teaching within his Department.

Finance

Like most of the Commonwealth universities, the new University and its Foundation Colleges depend almost entirely on public funds for financial support. In addition to capital and recurrent subsidies from the Hong Kong Government, it is gratifying to note that, as a result of a Fund-raising Campaign, which started in September 1963 and is still in progress, the College Endowment Fund now totals over a million Hong Kong dollars. The income of the Fund is used mainly for the provision of scholarships and bursaries for needy students.

Publications

The regular publications of the College are as follows:

1. Calendar — published annually in Chinese and English, giving comprehensive information on the College.

2. Prospectus — published annually, giving brief but essential information on the College for the reference of intending students.

3. College Journal — published once a year, with scholarly articles of academic interest written by faculty members.

4. United Bulletin — published at least twice a year, giving information of documentary and general interest, with contributions from staff and students.

College Premises

The College moved to the present premises at Bonham Road in 1962. In 1964 it rented from the Government the ground floor of the Pathological Institute at Caine Lane for use as Science Laboratories for physics and chemistry classes, and also acquired the second floor of a Government building at 47 Eastern Street, opposite the College main building, as accommodation for staff offices. The Language Laboratory, housed in the basement of the College building, is now expanded to accommodate forty booths, fitted with the latest equipment. In 1966, the Government leased the former Disinfecting Station in Caine Lane to the College for use as laboratories, lecture rooms, and staff offices for the entire Faculty of Science. The first floor of the Government Building at Eastern Street was leased to the College in 1967 as extra accommodation for staff offices. The College is planning to move to the new campus, possibly in 1970, when its new buildings at Shatin, the New Territories, are erected.

Library

The College Library was established in 1959. After moving into the present premises at Bonham Road in 1962 the Library has undergone considerable expansion. It is now organized to provide free access to books and periodicals for faculty members as well as students. Books and periodicals have been acquired through substantial Government grants, supplemented by generous donations from the British Council, the United States Information Service, the Asia Foundation, and other individual donors, especially Mr. Fung Kui-fei, who contributed a large collection of Chinese classics. The Library now has a total of over 61,300 volumes, of which approximately one-third are in Western languages. In addition, there are over 380 periodicals in various languages. Worthy of special mention is a recent acquisition of 1,248 volumes of modern Chinese plays published during 1921-1945. The collection of scientific books comprises mostly recent publications which provide up-to-date information in various fields. The classification adopted for books in Western languages is the Dewey Decimal system while the “Liu Kuo-Chun Classification System” (劉國鈞圖書館分類法) is used for the Chinese collection.

Overseas Cooperative Exchange Programmes

A cooperation programme between United College and Williams College of Williamstown, Massachusetts, U.S.A., commenced in the summer of 1966. Williams College, founded in 1793, is a leading liberal arts college for men. Since 1961 it has sponsored a “Williams-in-Hong-Kong” programme, under which six to seven young graduates or senior students are sent to Hong Kong every summer to teach intensive courses in English to local teachers and in-service social welfare personnel. Originally the programme was located in New Asia College. However, the parties concerned have agreed to transfer it to United College from 1966. Concomitant with this, Williams College has also transferred to United College the “Haystack Scholarship”, which offers US$2,500 annually to a deserving United College student to pursue his studies at Williams College.

Another exchange programme has been arranged with Indiana University, under which a graduate of Indiana University will come to United College to carry out research in the field of Political Science or Chinese Studies, while a graduate of United College will go to Indiana University to pursue advanced studies in the field of natural sciences. This scheme will start from September, 1967.

Starting from the 1967-68 academic year, Stanford University will nominate a graduate in the humanities to come to teach at United College for one academic year at a time.
